Says Pearl Harbor Facts Concealed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Harness (Rep-Ind.) declared in the House of Representatives today: "There appears to be an abundance of evidence" that 72 hours before the Pearl Harbor attack of Dec. 7, 1941, the Australian government advised Washington a Japanese aircraft carrier force was headed toward Pearl Harbor. He stated he was informed the information was not relayed to Maj.-Gen. Walter C. Short, then commanding army forces in Hawaii.

In a speech in the House of Representatives, H. Harness charged "the Commander-in-Chief has concealed the truth" of the Pearl Harbor disaster, by denying hearing to Gen. Short and Rear-Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, the latter naval commander at Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack.

British Sweep Into Holland To Flank West Wall

LONDON (AP)—British troops were reported striking into Holland today in a sweep toward the north end of the Siegfried Line after a mass slaughter of Germans while the U.S. 1st Army punched to less than 10 miles from the German border at two places, and captured the capital of the tiny Duchy of Luxembourg.

"In order that there be no misunderstanding with respect to the return of Japanese to the British Columbia coastal area after the war, the Deputy Minister of Labor states that it is obviously not correct to state that they (the Japanese) were to be allowed to return and re-enter fishing, farming and logging industries," Mr. MacNamara said.

By an order of the Dominion Government, Japanese have been removed from the coastal areas and no decision has been taken by the Dominion to lift the ban against them returning to that area.

WAR TO END FIRST

"There has been no thought of the Labor Department recommending that the ban be lifted, and if such action were to be considered, it could not be for some considerable time after the war with Japan was over, and furthermore, not until there had been a distribution of Japanese now in the interior of B.C. and other parts of Canada."

"A press representative had gained a wrong interpretation by an answer to a general question as to occupational opportunities for Japanese in other parts of Canada and consequently some misunderstanding has arisen."

Mr. MacNamara had stated in his interview that Japanese permitted to remain in Canada would not be allowed to settle in large groups in any one district or to "collect on the coast as in the past and take possession of an industry."

IN ALL PROVINCES

They would be distributed throughout the nine provinces. No allocation had yet been made.

"When the 23,000 British Columbia Japanese have been evenly distributed across Canada, there will be no restrictions on their movement into industry," Mr. MacNamara said.

Some form of commission would be set up to determine whether a Japanese is loyal or disloyal to Canada, with the latter being segregated and sent back to Japan.

Conditions Still Bad'
In Island Forests

"No better — conditions still bad," was today's report of the government's forest branch in the woods. "Wind, look out," said a forest branch officer today, as he kept his fingers crossed, hoping the rain would come before the wind.

The weekend was blazing hot and tinder dry, which made the fire hazard grow worse, though none of the fires went out of control, thanks to the absence of wind.

There are fires burning in the Sooke and Leechtown areas, around Shawnigan Lake and in the Highland district. Smoke from them commenced to drift over Victoria Sunday, with the atmosphere heavy and the sun going down like a ball of flame.

"Soldiers and civilian workers are standing guard over the various fires, digging trails around them, to keep them isolated. "If we get a rain everything will be dandy—but if we get a wind, look out," said a forest branch officer today, as he kept his fingers crossed, hoping the rain would come before the wind.

Several new fires are believed to have been started by cigarettes dropped by people illegally in the woods, since the forests are officially closed to the public by government order.

C. J. Haddon, district forester for Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, put it this way: "People will have to stay out of the woods or else they will burn up the province."

Youou people are still fighting the fire which broke out at their Lake Cowichan settlement a week ago. That fire is no worse and yet it is no better and will probably burn steadily until a rain drenches it.

Provincial Normal School at Victoria today registered 65 students—five of them men—for training as teachers. Classes started immediately.

One of the men was a returned air force fighter. In Vancouver, three of the 20 men students are discharged soldiers. Vancouver normal registration amounts to 150 students.

A great fleet of R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers smashed at Le Havre, just before that city was captured by British troops of the 1st Canadian Army. It was the second straight day in which Canadian bombers had joined the aerial pounding of Le Havre, and all of them returned safely.

Only Sunday, the U.S. fighters destroyed 123 German planes but 119 were caught on the ground in western Germany. Today's bag made the two-day total 225.

It was the fourth consecutive day in which 1,000 or more U.S. bombers had attacked Germany. The continental skies were saturated by R.A.F., R.C.A.F. and United States planes rising from bases in England, Italy, north and south France.

U.S. losses were not immediately tabulated. A spokesman of the U.S. 8th Air Force said the 130 planes destroyed still was an incomplete count, but already a record bag for fighters.

Victoria normal students come from all parts of British Columbia.

B.C. Soldiers Return

Several B.C. soldiers will arrive on the coast Tuesday morning from service overseas, the Pacific Command announced today. One officer and 28 other ranks are included in the group.

Nazis Evacuate Krosno, Close To Czech Border

LONDON (CP)—The south Poland fortress town of Krosno, 17 miles from Czechoslovakia, has been evacuated by the Germans, the Berlin radio announced late today.

Krosno lies in the Carpathian foothills, 83 miles southeast of the great Polish city of Krakow, key to the war industries of German Silesia. Other Polish troops across the Vistula were reported within 35 miles of Krakow last month and 75 from Silesia.

German broadcasts for several days have told of a massive new Russian offensive toward Krakow, but the Russians, as is their custom, have remained quiet during early stages of the drive.

The reported victory at Krosno cleared the Russian flank for a drive toward Beskide Pass into Czechoslovakia. At last reports the Red Army was 20 miles from the mountain gap.

The Berlin report said the Russians had captured the town four times since Friday, but were driven out on three occasions. Heavy Russian artillery and mass use of tanks were reported.

Moscow dispatches said that armored columns under command of Russia's newest marshal, Rodion Y. Malinovsky, were less than 20 miles from the Transylvanian capital of Cluj.

Informal Welcome
From Quebec People

It was a hearty and informal welcome the two leaders received from Quebec City and Canadian officials as bright sunshine bathed the overhanging cliffs which Wolfe's British soldiers climbed by night to fight and win Canada in the morning.

Chiefs of Staff of the Canadian armed services, representatives of the King, cabinet ministers and newspapermen mingled in a crowd on the station platform.

Sir Eugene Flaherty, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, and Premier Maurice Duplessis of Quebec were there. So were Air Minister Power and Justice Minister St. Laurent. Quebec City's two representatives in the federal cabinet.

Mr. King, with the Governor-General and Princess Alice, went aboard the presidential train.

Shortly after they had come out, Mr. Roosevelt emerged to enter his automobile, which was waiting on a specially-built ramp. A Victoria cheer went up.

As Mr. Roosevelt took his seat in the automobile a second long train steamed slowly in and Mr. King hurried over to enter Mr. Churchill's car at the rear. He came out with Mr. and Mrs. Churchill and another cheer broke out.

Mr. Roosevelt received a warm welcome from Princess Alice and exchanged warm greetings with Mrs. Churchill. The three women entered a closed car and drove to the Citadel in the procession which formed up quickly.

Puffed Vigorously
On His Cigar

Mr. Churchill wore a blue peacock jacket, peaked cap and bow tie.

Mrs. Churchill wore a dark grey suit.

A freshly-lighted cigar was in Mr. Churchill's mouth and he puffed hard to keep it going while giving a "V" sign with his hand.

Then he strolled across a couple of railway tracks, stepping carefully on the rough ballast, to the President's automobile.

Members of Mr. Churchill's staff said the Prime Minister had remained in his stateroom practically all the way across the Atlantic and spent much time working.

He made himself popular with U.S. servicemen, however, by intervening with the President to get them an extension of leave. The ship was held up for a few days for Mr. Churchill. Soldiers returning from overseas counted their allotted leaves from the date of their departure and normally would have had a few days less with their families.

But Mr. Churchill heard of this and cabled the President.

Mr. Roosevelt replied that all men involved would get an appropriate extension of leave, subject of course, to the necessities of the war effort.

59 Missing As Corvette Alberni Lost Esquimalt-Built Vessel Sunk During Invasion; 31 Survivors

OTTAWA (CP) — The corvette Alberni, veteran of the Battle of the Atlantic and the invasion of north Africa, has been sunk while on invasion duties, with four officers and 35 ratings missing, Navy Minister Macdonald announced yesterday.

There were 31 survivors—three officers and 28 ratings—including Lt.-Cmdr. Ian H. Bell, Vancouver, who commanded the battle-tired warship during the last two years.

Two Vancouver Island men are among the missing. S. John Arthur Culpepper, whose wife, Mrs. Edith Culpepper, lives at 1765 Newton Street, Victoria, and ERA. Donald Borden, whose wife lives at 288 Macharay Street, Nanaimo.

Mr. Macdonald's announcement gave no details of the latest naval loss, which came three weeks after it was announced the corvette Regina had gone down while on invasion duties.

The Alberni is the 18th warship and the eighth corvette lost by the Canadian navy in this war.

HONORABLE CAREER

An action-filled career of more than three years lay behind the Alberni when she slipped to the bottom in invasion waters. During that time she had been officially credited with one "probable" U-boat sinking... in the North Atlantic and had been present at numerous other sub-hunts.

One of the first western Canadian corvettes assigned to escort duties, the Alberni was built by Yarrow at Esquimalt, B.C., in 1940 and was commissioned Feb. 3, 1941.

(The Alberni was one of the first of many fine corvettes Yarrow has turned out to help win the battle of the seas. Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, wife of Victoria's member of Parliament, was the sponsor and present on the launching platform were Mayor Victor Tingey of the pleasant up-island town after which the ship was named, and Mrs. Tilley, Rev. Arthur Bischlager and Rev. Father A. B. Wood said prayers. Engineer-Capt. G. L. Stephens represented the Minister of National Defence.)

SENT TO ATLANTIC

Along with other western-built corvettes, she was transferred to the East Coast in the spring of 1941.

She was on duty in the Atlantic during the height of Germany's attempt to cut the northern life line to Britain.

The crew saw ships go down and men die; they fought back and saw U-boats sunk. The worst night of all, however, was in the fall of 1942, according to the ship's executive officer, Lieut. Malcolm S. Grant, Brockville, Ont., now reported missing. During that night the heavy thud of torpedo explosions was heard a half dozen times and ships went down on all sides.

The Alberni saved 92 men from the tossing seas. The weather was too rough for a lifeboat to be lowered and survivors were helped up from rafts, boats and wreckage by using scramble nets.

Months later the Alberni again picked up survivors, but that time it was on a calm, clear night near the entrance to the Mediterranean. Boats were lowered and with the aid of searchlights 54 merchant seamen were saved.

The Alberni's probable submarine sinking came during the first years of her service. She attacked a U-boat and depth charges brought up oil and debris, but the sub did not surface and no prisoners were taken.

A list of the missing follows:

JULIAN, Hugh Cameron, Lieut. Mortal West, Oneida
GRANT, Malcolm Seafield, Lieut. Brockville
VICKERS, John, Lieut. Victoria
HAMILTON, John Peter, Lieut. Vancouver
HENDERSON, Hugh Malcolm, Surgeon Lieutenant, N.S.
ALLAN, John Muholand, AB. Norway

Choose your own payments.

Notice that you may repay your loan in monthly instalments which can be made with only a small part of your current earnings. Twelve monthly instalments of $9.46 each repay a total of $113.52—without any hidden charges, no extras of any kind.

Money for most any purpose.

Don't hesitate to bring your problem to Household whatever it may be. Household makes loans to pay off debts, taxes, doctor bills, insurance, to lay in coal, help relatives—for most any purpose. Phone, write or visit Household Finance today.

The Canadian shipbuilding industry employs 66,000 persons. The re-employment of personnel and facilities in this industry, as in many others which have been developed and have operated in Canada during the war, will shortly become a crucial problem of reconstruction, to be administered in the new department of reconstruction which has been authorized but not yet set up.

What the shipbuilding industry wants, to put it briefly, is an enclosed area of operation from which outside competition will be shut out. That area, judging from the association's brief, would be chiefly the Canadian coasting trade which, in 1939, engaged about 850,000 tons of shipping, much of which could legitimately be replaced because of obsolescence.

We guarantee that these payments will repay loans in full, if payments are made on schedule. The loan will not exceed $100. Payments include Household's charge of 2% per month on loan balance of $300 or less and 1% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $300.

DOWN AT QUEBEC

PERHAPS WEEKS AND MONTHS WILL elapse before the world witnesses the practical application of decisions reached at the second Quebec conference. A trifle more than a year ago Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt—with Prime Minister Mackenzie King in attendance—met in the capital of Canada's Ancient Province and drew a detailed design for the Allied attack on Hitler's much-vaunted, "Impregnable" Atlantic Wall. Three months later the two political leaders of the chief English-speaking members of the United Nations described these plans to Marshal Stalin in Teheran and gave the Soviet Premier the approximate date on which they would be unfolded. The timing evidently went according to plan; and the Fuehrer can be left to his own reflections on what has transpired in Western Europe since June 6. His last "wall" guarding the approaches to his Reich already is within the orbit of Allied artillery fire; he no longer is scoffing at the "military idiots" of the United Nations.

As far as Germany is concerned, however, this Quebec conference may have more political than military significance. The momentum of the campaigns in the west, the east and the south already is foreshadowing the final battle for the Reich itself. What to do with the Fuehrer's domain after complete victory shall have been won no doubt will be high up in the agenda which Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt have drawn up for discussion. The fact that both leaders and Mr. Mackenzie King have with them the chiefs of staff and their "departmental" officers nevertheless suggests that such military affairs as may require additional attention will be discussed. In this respect, on the other hand, it is freely predicted that these experts will be largely employed on the job of drawing the design for the final campaign against Japan. The British Prime Minister has repeatedly assured the United States that United Kingdom and Empire forces will be available to take their full part in the ultimate subjection of Japan as soon as the European member of the Axis has received his just desserts. As in the case of the invasion of Western Europe, of course, what is decided at Quebec will be revealed in practice later on.

The point which has naturally struck most editors who receive their information days before Mr. Churchill left home is that if it were necessary for Canadian newspapers to observe such tightly-sealed secrecy, how was it that the BBC could give it so much advance publicity? Assuming that some submarines or hostile aircraft still prowl under and over the waters of the Atlantic, surely the enemy had all the information he desired about the projected movements of the Prime Minister. It is all very strange.

ALASKA HIGHWAY FUTURE

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT THE United States Army has abandoned the Haines cut-off, the road linking the Alaska highway northwest of Whitehorse with the Pacific coast near Skagway, Alaska, raises the question as to what Canada is going to do—let it go or keep it up?

The road was built in 1942-43 at a cost of $10,000,000 as part of the whole Alaska Highway project and specifically to relieve the White Pass and Yukon Railway which connects the two cities. It has been abandoned by the U.S. Army because traffic along it does not justify further expenditure. With more than four-fifths of it in the Canadian Yukon, the agreement was that it was to be turned over to Canada at the end of the war.

The future of the Haines cut-off is linked with that of the rest of the Alaska Highway which is also to be turned over to the Canadian government. What traffic there is on the highway is now reported to be confined to hauling supplies for the Northwest Staging Route. It has been argued that the road will have to be kept open for the sake of the air route. There is, too, the possibility of tourist traffic, which, we assume, will be heavy after the war.

With the U.S. Army now getting out of Alaska and turning the highway there over to the Alaska Road Commission, it may not be long before the part of the highway in Canada is turned over to the Dominion government. So far Ottawa has not made known what its policy will be when responsibility falls on Canada for the future of the highway. Its upkeep will be costly, especially if it is to be maintained as a major tourist route for a short summer season.

JAPANESE AND THE VOTE

TYPICAL OF A REALISTIC PUBLIC'S attitude toward the question of giving the "royal" Japanese the vote is this one of the many letters to the editors of British Columbia's newspapers—which appeared in a mainland daily:

"Sir: Why are the C.C.F. so anxious to give the Japanese a chance to vote, now when we are at war with them? Don't they (the C.C.F.) think we run this country right enough to please the Japs?"

This whole matter can be settled as far as British Columbia is concerned, of course, at the next provincial election. The C.C.F. can ask the people if they want the Legislature to give the Japs the vote. Governments are servants of the people.

BACK TO NORMALCY?

WAR HAS QUIETLY TAKEN AWAY that comfortable feeling of the permanence and solidity of ordinary customs and events. Probably few people noted the feeling when it was present or consciously missed it when it went. Perhaps many had not until they read that New York fashion designers are already planning to go back to Paris, and that preparations are under way for the world premiere of a Hollywood picture in France this winter. Suddenly it has all come back to us. Now we know how Noah must have felt when

All these diseases are avoidable. They can be prevented and they can be eliminated. In the case of diphtheria, the disease has been wiped out altogether in a number of communities in Canada as a result of immunization. In Hamilton, for instance, because of protective measures, there has not been a case of diphtheria for 10 years. What means can best be realized by any parent who has had to stand by helpless and see his child choking to death with a

FIELD HOSPITAL WORKS LIKE PRODUCTION LINE

From a Correspondent

I HAVE SPENT this day watching wounded pour in from the big push into one of the most amazing hospitals in France. The commanding officer of this evacuation hospital behind the lines is an old army man, tough as a tent and just about as subtle as a slug between the eyes. This 750 bed hospital under tents was set down on a field here in France within six hours. It was set up and receiving patients within a very few hours. It was ready to function at capacity and, since the battle for St. Lo, doctors, nurses and all hospital personnel have been working in 12-hour shifts in ceaseless battle here behind lines to save the lives of men wounded in some of the bitterest fighting in history.

"The men at the front don't observe union hours so why should we?" the Colonel frowned. "There's a war going on; had you heard of it?" tyrannical and fully conscious of the fact that his staff pay him deep if grudging respect, the Colonel drives himself as he does all his hospital personnel. A Diesel engine of energy, he is obsessed with but one idea—that these boys back from the front receive the best medical attention in the fastest time possible. "A few days ago we performed 200 operations in 24 hours," the Colonel said in a whisper as we stood at the end of a long surgery tent and looked down a row of operating tables where white swathed doctors and nurses bent over wounded boys.

SOME OF THEM had arms and legs missing, some were only a hopeless jumble of blown-to-bits humanity. I saw sights that I shall remember when younger generations are reading of this bloody war in books of history. From clearing stations at the front, the wounded are brought to this evacuation hospital where emergency operations are performed and casualties evacuated by air or hospital ship just as soon as they are in condition to be moved. As an almost continuous stream of ambulances, with their great red crosses painted on sides and top, unload litters of wounded at the receiving tent, another almost continuous stream of ambulances leaves with litter loads of wounded who have received emergency treatment and are being evacuated by air or water back to England. "The turnover is terrific," the Colonel explained. "Some of these men will have received emergency surgery and be back in England in a hospital within 12 hours of being wounded at the front. But not stomach and chest wounds. Stomach wounds we keep seven days, chest wounds five days."

EVERYTHING IN THIS AMAZING hospital is geared for speed. At mess doctors and nurses snatched hurried meals, still dressed in their white headgear with masks hanging from their necks. There are officers and enlisted men's recreation tents but they are empty. No one in this hospital has time for anything but work and sleep. In a shock laboratory I saw the hospital's great store of whole blood and plasma that arrives daily by plane from England. In a medical supply tent there were great stores of medicine to meet any emergency.

The Colonel takes fierce and justified pride in his hospital. Nothing is missed by the Colonel in his daily rounds of the hospital. He peers into garbage buckets, pokes in litter heaps, peers into showers which he had rigged up by attaching a connection to a huge sterilizer used for renovating mattresses and bedding.

"I don't give a damn about wasting a little food," he growled, "but if a garbage can is full it means my people aren't getting food cooked to suit them. The way they are there, they damn well better be fed well."

AFTER A COMPLETE tour of the hospital, from mess tents to nurses' "quarters," the Colonel and I climbed a slight rise back of the hospital that commanded a sweeping view of this enormous hospital under canvas. The farthest tent from view, set in a little corner and isolated from the rest, the Colonel pointed out as the morgue. He spoke of it in a soft tone of voice far different from the one he had been using while barking orders as we made our tour of the hospital. On our way back to the Colonel's office, I asked him about a strange looking table I had seen leaning against the wall in the enlisted men's recreation tent. "It's a crap table and damn good one, too," he explained. "I'm not supposed to know it's there."

AS I TOOK my leave of the hospital, the Colonel and I stood a while watching litter bearers gently load their burdens into ambulances waiting to take the wounded to hospital planes which had just landed on a nearby airstrip. Alongside one boy on a litter the chaplain stood talking. "We've got two chaplains, Catholic and Protestant" the Colonel said. "They're a great influence. They haven't influenced me but they influence these boys, and that helps me," he said, tough to the last. The Colonel put me in a command car and sent me on my way. Down the road ahead of me a convoy of ambulances was moving to the airstrip to put their patched-up casualties on waiting hospital planes. Down the road in back of me came a convoy of ambulances bringing their loads of wounded back from the battle front to this amazing hospital where human beings are patched up like automobiles are put together on a production line.

I remembered the Colonel's words: "The men at the front don't observe union hours, so why should we?" As long as that convoy of ambulances keeps coming up that narrow French road from the front, the production line in the operating room of that hospital will keep going. "There's a war going on. Had you heard of it?"

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE
The battle for the approaches to the Siegfried Line already is producing some of the fiercest fighting since D-Day, as was inevitable in view of the fact that Hitler has elected to make his last big stand against the western Allies in the more than 400 miles of powerful and intricate defenses comprising this shield of the Reich.

IRONING IT OUT

One wishes that it were otherwise—that the Nazi dictator would cease his useless resistance and thus stop the bloodshed. Still, his persistence is helping the Allies achieve their great objective of outlawing war, for it means that the problem of German aggression is going to be ironed out to the last wrinkle.

Were there no struggle on German soil the seed of militarism might remain. If the Allies have to blast their way across Germany there won't be any fight left in her when they have finished.

The German strategy is one of delay—not with the idea of victory but in hope that something may turn up to ease their plight in defeat.

While the Allies are getting ahead famously with their job, the wild race of pursuers and pursued across the rolling fields of France has slowed up. This has been due not only to increasing German resistance but to the great and speedy lengthening of communications from supply bases on the coast. The task of moving up supplies for the attack on the Siegfried Line is huge and we can't expect things to move as fast as they have been. Included in the latest Canadian progress is the capture of Wissant, just south of Calais, and the famous port of Zeebrugge, close to the Netherlands-Belgian border. Liberation of the Channel harbors will ease the Allied supply problem immensely.

DRIVE TOWARD CLEVE

Next to the Canadians is the British 2nd Army, which is across the Albert Canal in Belgium and is driving northeastward toward the upper flank of the Siegfried Line, which is at Cleve, close to the Netherlands border. The British also have made contact with the U.S. 1st Army on their right, and units from the two are heading for Aachen and Cologne.

Just beyond Aachen lies the Siegfried Line, but once that is broken the route leads into greater reaches of open country where are many of Germany's greatest war industries. Much of the terrain is good for exploration by fast-moving tanks. And it's on the direct route to Berlin.

POST-WAR PLANS for Her Begin at Home

YOUR wife is just as much concerned about post-war planning as anyone, but she thinks in terms of her home and family now:

She wants security, but she must rely on you alone to guard against the hazards that threaten it.

What assurance has she that the family will have money to buy the necessities of life if you are taken from them? Life insurance provides a means by which you can guarantee to them a continuing income.

To provide this security in any other way is quite impossible for most husbands... To do it through systematic and regular life insurance premiums is both practical and sure.

Famous Hunter, L. S. Berrow, 56, Dies Up-Island

COWICHAN STATION (Special) — Leland Stanford Berrow, 56, died suddenly, a few days ago at his home on Old Kokslah Road. He was a well-known sportsman, woodsman and logger.

Born of English parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Alexander Berrow, in Santa Rosa, Calif., May 26, 1888, he was brought as a baby by his parents to Victoria, living at Gordon Head for a time and later moving to Salt Spring Island. Prior to coming here 14 years ago, Mr. Berrow lived at Chemainus and Duncan. His knowledge of Vancouver Island was vast and many sought him out for information regarding the topography of various districts. He was noted for his ability as a hunter, woodsman and saw filer of exceptional skill, having won many prizes. He was probably best known as a cougar hunter, having bagged 250 of these animals. In hunting cougars he used dogs which he trained himself; two became outstanding — Pat and Peggy. Pat died some years ago, aged 11 years, while Peggy lived to the age of 14 and predeceased her master by only a few weeks. Both these hounds were of Kentucky blood.

Besides his wife, four sons and two daughters, Mr. Berrow leaves five brothers, including Sidney of 2548 Quadra Street Victoria; and three sisters, among them Mrs. Nellie Richards and Mrs. Violet Howell of Victoria. Mrs. Rose Weaving of Ladysmith is an aunt.

It Was Loaded

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedian Bob Hope, home from a tour of the south Pacific, was showing a reporter the trophies he picked up along the way.

Among them was a Japanese pistol.

"This is the way it works," Hope explained, fumbling with the mechanism.

Whammo! and a bullet plowed through a closet door, ripped into the floor and struck the ceiling of his kitchen directly below.

"The cook's all right," said the white-faced actor a moment later after investigating.

$30,000 Fire, Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — Fire which gutted a row of stores and suites and for a time threatened half a block of buildings in a Kitsilano shopping district Saturday, caused losses estimated at $30,000.

The fire was discovered when flames and smoke shot from the rear of a vegetable shop and an adjoining restaurant and bakery. For a time work of the firefighters was hampered by crowds that pressed close to the burning buildings. Extra traffic police were rushed to the scene to control the crowds. Five stores and two apartment blocks were affected by the fire.

Duncan School Board

The following appointments were confirmed by the Duncan Consolidated School Board Friday evening: A. K. Adams, Victoria, industrial arts; Senior and Junior High Schools; Francis Cook, Vancouver, mathematics; Miss Madeline Rosch, Mrs. Floria M. Reddyhoff, Vancouver, Junior High School, and Miss Audrey Tipton, Nanoose Bay, Elementary School.

A "Fire Prevention" poster competition will be held in the schools and a letter was received from the office of the Fire Marshal, outlining rules. Grades 9 and 12 will compete.

George Kinney submitted a claim for a refund of fees paid for high school tuition whilst he was a resident of the Mission House, Kokslah. The claim will be investigated. Mr. Pease, principal, Elementary School, reported an enrollment of 419 with a possible 443. He recommended an additional teacher and more accommodation. The board is surveying the situation and will try to obtain outside accommodation. Mr. Goddard, High School principal, reported 316 enrolled. This is an increase over last year, but, at present there is plenty of room.

Letters To The Editor

THE REPLY COURTEOUS

Mr. J. McDermott sees no ray of hope in the Dumbarton Oaks conference, and writes a very discouraging letter about same; condemning it in advance and unheard. To me this does not seem a very wise or scientific attitude to take up.

Mr. Hull made it quite clear that the conference was exploratory, and he said the small nations would all get their chance later. To say that the conferees have no regard for human beings or their rights is saying a whole lot too much. These conferees might with equal reason say that your correspondents' ideas are cluttered up with King Charles' head, or in other words they might say that some idea fixe has got him in thrall. At any rate why jump to conclusions ahead of the findings or recommendations?

Mr. McDermott's motto seems to be always expect the worst and you'll never be disappointed, but the following quotation is also worthy of notice: "Men might be better if we better seemed of them. The worst way to improve the world is to condemn it."

SHIPYARD WORKER SPEAKS

Your editorial this evening re "Naval Shipbuilding Essential" was very timely and well to the point, but what about new ships for the C.P.R.?

During the war this company has done much business in the number of sailors from Esquimalt being carried east across the continent and back west from as far away as Halifax and St. John, and the soldiers from Victoria carried to and fro in like manner.

So should not Yarrow's Ltd share also in building ships for the C.P.R.? There will be quite a large share of our peacetime navy quartered here, and many of them and their families will be visiting Seattle, Vancouver and other places, which will necessitate travel by C.P.R. boats. So let them ride in boats built at Esquimalt.

Say N.H.A. Suites Are Too Expensive

Declaring the rents of suites in buildings converted by National Housing Administration were too high in price, the Service Wives' Housing Committee which met Friday night at the home of Mrs. F. J. Pattison decided to press their demands for houses which they considered would be within their means.

They will continue to meet each Wednesday and press their demands with public officials until remedial action is taken, the 20 wives and mothers present agreed.

Mrs. F. Mitchell reported a delegation interviewed Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and enlisted their support. The group approached National Housing Administration, she said, but stated: "If we were to pay the price asked for a three-room suite we would have only about $25 left to food and clothes for the entire month. Service families cannot afford the price asked for government suites."

The committee will meet Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Banner, 2339 Lee Avenue.

Scientific, agricultural and many other documents are included in the 45,000 letters and writings of Thomas Jefferson that Princeton University is now editing and preparing for publication.

George Kinney submitted a claim for a refund of fees paid for high school tuition whilst he was a resident of the Mission House, Kokslah. The claim will be investigated. Tons of Clothing For French Relief

Twenty tons of Canadian-made clothing will soon be en route for relief of French children in the liberated areas of France, according to cabled advice received today from Maj.-Gen. C. B. Price, Overseas Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society. This shipment, the gift of the Canadian Red Cross, is the vanguard of 110 tons of clothing, medical supplies and food being sent to Normandy by other organizations. Teams of French Red Cross workers were already in the field to distribute these goods, Gen. Price reported.

The Canadian shipment includes 1,000 layettes, 500 boys' kits and 500 girls' kits. The layettes contain everything from blankets to diapers, it was stated, while the boys' kits were made up of dressing gowns, pyjamas, shirts, socks and sweaters, and the girls' got dressing gowns or coats, nightgowns, skirts, blouses, knickers, socks and vests.

Red Cross Notes

Victoria West—It was reported at the last meeting the following articles have been sent to Bundles for Britain: One bundle of used clothing, a patchwork quilt, four complete layettes and $10 in cash to Red Cross headquarters.

New Quarters—Owing to the Monterey School being overcrowded, it is necessary for the Oak Bay High School to make room for more students. The two large rooms which have been occupied by the Oak Bay Unit for the past four years are needed and the unit must find other quarters immediately. Anyone knowing of a place suitable for the workroom which will house 12 sewing machines and several large quilting frames, should phone Mrs. Curtis, G 1736, or Red Cross headquarters, 602 Broughton, B 3159.

Sooke Fair—At the fall fair held by the Sooke Farmers' Institute the Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Co. had an exhibit of several varieties of fresh salmon at the end of the evening. They donated the fish to the Sooke Red Cross and the fall fair committee auctioned them. The sum of $9.75 was raised. The Red Cross also had a donation from A. Robillard of hothouse tomatoes, grapes and cucumbers which brought in $29.80.

Weddings

A floor-length gown of white brocaded satin featuring a fitted bodice with sweetheart neckline and long point sleeves was the choice of Jane, youngest daughter of Mrs. J. E. Clague, 1229 Oscar Street, and the late H. M. Clague of Duncan, for her marriage Saturday evening in Christ Church Cathedral to Lieut. Bryce Paterson Page, Canadian Armored Corps, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Page, Port Moody, B.C. Dean Spencer H. Elliott read the service.

The bride was given away by her great-uncle, G. R. Naden. A coronet of orange blossoms and a gardenia held her finger-tip veil and she carried a white prayer book topped with gardenias and heather. The bridesmaid, Miss Peggy Laughlin, wore a frock of autumn green faconne with a headress of fresh flowers matching her colonial bouquet of white and mauve asters. Sgt. Bud Trythall, C.D.C., was best man, while ushering was Cpl. Angus James, R.C.A.F., brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, where she was assisted in receiving by the groom's mother.

Lieut. and Mrs. Page left for Vancouver, en route to Niagara Falls, the bride traveling in a frock and matching hat of geranium red wool with brown accessories.

STROM—OLESEN

The marriage took place Saturday in Grace English Lutheran Church of Nelsy Olesen, Denmark, and Charley Strom, Sweden. Rev. T. A. Jansen officiated. Following luncheon at the "Wishbone" where W. H. Squier proposed the toast, Mr. and Mrs. Strom left for a honeymoon in the interior. They will make their home on Ash Road, Gordon Head.

Answer—Yes, I think you should tell the parents if you are certain that the girls really are going to be foolish enough to put their childish plan into execution, because, if they do, they may be murdered for the few dollars they have been able to save, but that seems so much to them because they have never had the handling of any money. Or they may be kidnapped by evil men and women who traffic in such innocents as they are. In any event, their parents will have to call on the police to find them, and the story of their escapade will get into the papers. There will be a bright on their names which they will never be able to live down.

Surely any 14-year-old girl, unless she is the dumbest of the dumb, knows that a girl child of that age hasn't a chance of coming to anything but grief when she runs away from home. And surely parents are lacking in even elementary intelligence if they do not realize that their children grow up like other people's children, and that they must have a certain amount of liberty if they are to be kept at home.

John Howard Group In Chest Drive

THE Home Nurse

FRESH, SMOOTH BED
PREFERRED BY SICK
DURING HOT WEATHER

By MARY BEARD
Director, Nursing Service,
Red Cross

Caring for a chronically ill person during hot weather presents many problems. He is likely to be unusually restless because of his discomfort from the heat, and to require frequent change of position.

Because the skin is softened by perspiration and may adhere to the sheet, great care must be taken in turning and moving the patient in order to prevent skin irritations that may lead to bedsores. Frequent sponging with cool water on the back and body points where the greatest pressure comes will help to keep the skin firm and in good condition.

In summer the alcohol rub is appreciated more than ever because it cools and dries the skin. Always protect the bed with a bath towel when you give the alcohol rub so that the dampness of the lower sheet will not be increased.

"Apart from the humanitarian side of the work, there is the economic side to consider. We spend a few dollars through the Community Chest to rehabilitate a lad, and save the government hundreds of dollars it might spend to maintain a lad in prison," says Mrs. Mitchell.

John Howard Society, she said, was established to rehabilitate men and women coming out of prison, or the penitentiary. To prevent them from going to prison, and to better prison conditions.

At the present time, it is reported, members are making efforts to bring pressure to bear on the government to carry out recommendations set forth in the Royal Commission report published in 1938, which would overcome many of the difficulties faced by the society.

"What troubles me most," said Mrs. Mitchell, "is the alarming increase among the younger people. Let me give you some figures on our juvenile crime—by juvenile I mean, from 16 to 21 years. Today the number of juveniles convicted is almost four times greater than it was in 1911, and of those, one in three has had a previous conviction, and I am speaking of major offences only."

Mrs. Mitchell said she was confident that the work is filling a need in the community, and believes the general public will willingly support John Howard Society through the medium of Community Chest in the forthcoming campaign.

Smythe Prepared To Accept N.H.L. Post

TORONTO (CP)—Major Conn Smythe probably will accept the presidency of the National Hockey League if he recovers sufficiently from wounds he received in Normandy while serving with his sportsmen's battery, it was learned today.

Smythe, who was managing director of Maple Leaf Gardens and manager of the Toronto Maple Leafs in the N.H.L. before going overseas, is expected home within the next two weeks, but he may not make a decision immediately on his arrival.

A telegram he sent to the league governors in session at Montreal indicated his injuries were more serious than some of them had believed, but it was learned that the tone of the cablegram led the governors to believe he will accept as soon as he has recovered sufficiently.

Five C's Register Win Over Albions

In the final league cricket match of the season, Saturday, Five C's defeated the Albions by one wicket. Batting first, the Albions put on 113, with the C's replying with 118 for nine wickets.

Veteran G. C. Grant was the big bat for the Albions with a fine 55 not out, which included six fours and one six. Bell-Irving put on 28 and was the only other member of the team to reach double figures.

George Payne contributed 54 for the C's, while Pugh put on 24 and Jackson 15.

Grant led the Albions to victory with four for 37, while Jack Payne and Pugh were best for the C's with three for 30 and four for 39, respectively.

PRINCE ROBERT IN NAPLES
'SPlices the Main Brace'

ABOARD H.M.C.S. PRINCE ROBERT (CP) — This anti-aircraft cruiser recently steamed into Naples harbor, picking her way through an assortment of allied ships, "troop" supply and warships — and became the first Canadian warship to drop anchor in the Italian harbor since it was liberated from the Germans.

However, the historical feature of the visit meant little to most of the cruiser's crew and completely escaped the attention of three ratings who spent their shore leave in joyous reunion with relatives.

The ratings were AB. George Kerry of Montreal, AB. Johnny McKenna of Neville, Sask., and Johnny (Geegee) Giglia of Hamilton, Ont.

While fellow sailors were busy souvenir hunting, Kerry held a reunion with his brother, whom he had not seen since the beginning of the war; McKenna met his brother for the first time since 1938, and Giglia was entertained aboard an Italian cruiser after an unexpected meeting with a cousin from Sicily.

McKenna set out to look for his brother, Art, a petty officer in the United States Navy. He gave up the search and returned to his ship to find his brother waiting for him.

LITTLE DAMAGE

Meantime other crew members found that faculty Naples had suffered meagre war damage. It was still the city of churches pictured in guide books. Roman Catholic crewmen took the opportunity to attend mass in one of the most famous of the churches, the Chiesa Di San Francesco Di Paola.

Some of the seamen visited the famed San Carlo Opera House, others stopped off at the Palazzo Reale in the Piazza Del Plebiscito, which now is a grand-scale weekly club.

Some went to the Maple Leaf Club, operated by the Salvation Army exclusively for Canadian service personnel. Parks attract others and some decided to do some window shopping along the main thoroughfares.

Shortly after the cruiser left Naples a message was received from King George VI congratulating the splendid and efficient appearance of naval ships in the Mediterranean during his recent visit to the Italian front.

The message was followed by another which said: "Splice the main brace."

It was the first time since the Robert left Victoria, B.C., in July, 1943, that the main brace had been spliced with the ship at sea. A roar of approval rose from every part of the ship when the message was received and there was a concerted rush for cups to hold the "extra tot of rum all around."

VICTORIA SHIP

Prince Robert's commander is Capt. A. M. Hope, R.C.N., formerly of Victoria. She is largely a Victoria ship and was well-known there in peace days when she was in triangle service for the C.N.R. between Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle. Later she was a cruise ship to Alaska.

In 1941 Prince Robert, captained by Cmdr. Charles T. Bedford, R.C.N., captured the German freighter Weser and brought her as a prize of war into Esquimalt harbor. Then she became an auxiliary cruiser and escorted the troopship Avalon from Vancouver to Hong Kong with the Canadian contingent. Later she was converted into Canada's first ack-ack ship.

There are only a few lutes in the world today, and it is hard to find a person who knows how to play one of them. Yet this instrument was very popular a few centuries ago.

A lute has a hollow, pear-shaped body, and there are strings over one or more holes in its upper surface. The strings are plucked with the fingers.

Local Fastball Clubs Lost Three Title Playoffs

Victoria fastball teams fared badly in B.C. championship playoffs Saturday against mainland winners, dropping three series.

Los Angeles was slow in warming up for its downstretch wins yesterday. The first game with Hollywood was tied 1 to 1 until the ninth when Ed Sauer set off a five-run outburst for the Angels with his fourth homer of the season. The Angels put over four runs in the first three innings of the nightcap as George Comella hung up his seventh win in the afterpiece.

NEWHOUSER WINS 24TH

Hal Newhouser spun a four-hitter against Cleveland Indians for his 24th triumph, as Detroit won, 5 to 0, but the tribe shelled Paul (Dizzy) Trout from the mound to win the aftermath, 7 to 4.

Nelson Potter became the first Brownie hurler to win 15 games when he held the White Sox to six hits in the opener, winning 6 to 2. In the nightcap, a single by Jimmy Webb and relief pitcher Orval Grove's triple won for Chicago 3 to 2.

In the other American League twinbill Washington Senators twice defeated Philadelphia Athletics, 2 to 1 and 8 to 2. Emil Leonard outpitched Jess Flores in the opener and Alex Carrasquel hung up his seventh win in the afterpiece.

Coast Hockey Plans

Six-Team Loop Possible

NANAIMO (CP) — Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association officials, meeting here Sunday, took initial steps towards providing British Columbia hockey fans with their 1944-45 hockey menu.

Army, Navy and Air Force are definitely interested in a garrison loop and would be able to include civilian teams in the setup, provided, however, this league does not lead to group, provincial or Dominion finals.

Three possible civilian entries, New Westminster, Nanaimo and St. Regis of Vancouver, are also interested in taking the ice lanes if a suitable playing arrangement can be effected that would permit competition with the services.

League officials expressed the opinion it might be possible to organize a six-team coast circuit using rinks at Vancouver, New Westminster and Nanaimo, but they agreed that a definite assurance be given service teams that league competition would terminate with the concluding game of the regular league schedule and not embrace group, provincial or Dominion finals.

ALLAN CUP HOPES

It was suggested, however, that either of the entered civic teams might later be nominated to go further in search of Allan Cup honors. President Jack Ryan and Harry Forward were delegated to approach the combined services to ascertain whether the envisaged plan would be feasible under the terms of the recent hockey edict issued by Ottawa service authorities.

Should the plan be accepted, Army would likely base its team at Nanaimo, an army spokesman told the league.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines Lesters, last winter's Allan Cup semi-finalists, announced their withdrawal from the association through representative Hugh McNeill.

Jack Ryan and Harry B. Forward, president and secretary of the coast body for the last three seasons, tendered their resignations, but were asked to continue in office until plans for this season were clarified and the services approached to determine their position in the hockey picture.

Election of the 1944-45 slate of officers was also set over until a later meeting to be called by President Ryan.

FOR THE sake of throats and weak hearts it is a good thing the Navy-Army city championship baseball playoff is over. I don't think the fans or players could have stood up under much more strain. From the moment the clubs took the field for the first game the tension was terrific and it never let up until that million-dollar hit of Ken Van Hatten's Friday night. Never before in the history of the game here have I seen the fans become so worked up. And that association extends over a period of better than 20 years.

BIG SECRET of the Navy win undoubtedly was the wonderful team spirit of the players. Seldom have I come in contact with a group of fellows who pulled so well together and were willing to give everything they had to win. Never once during the series was there ever anything like a squawk between any of the Navy boys. They really pulled together and team spirit like that is mighty tough to beat as the Army found out. In practically every game the Navy won in the playoffs their great fighting spirit made itself known.

HOWEVER, one must pay tribute to the fine job turned in at first base for the sailors by big, likeable Eddie Runge. Joining the club well after the campaign had started Runge was a big factor in welding the Navy club into a smooth-functioning ball team. Of great importance was the manner in which he ironed out the rough spots in the infield. The Navy club showed a marked all-around improvement from the time Runge donned a uniform. Then again his power at the plate came in mighty handy more than once.

TOO MUCH cannot be said about the brilliant season pitching record of Jimmy Crosato. Anybody who had any doubts about the courage of this youngster should certainly be satisfied after his exhibition in that final game. Going into action despite a mighty sore elbow and shoulder, Crosato emerged the winner when his teammates just refused to go under. Even when he was four runs down in the early stages Crosato refused to quit and his courage paid off. Speaking of pitchers tribute must be paid to Lloyd Cann of the Army and Jimmy Ingamells of the Navy. These two hurlers hot thrilled the fans by their comebacks after failures in two previous outs. Cann made a game attempt to win the series for his club and just missed.

WILL BE interesting to see how the Navy stacks up against Vancouver Norvans, if that B.C. championship series is arranged. Many fans, who have seen games on the mainland this season, claim the caliber of ball played here is far superior to that displayed by the clubs across the gulf. The Navy will be under a definite handicap if forced to play under the lights. The Sunday double-header planned for here would pack them in.

THIS CORNER can't produce any proof that Detroit will win that American League pennant tussle but at this stage the Tigers seem to rate the pick. The schedules favor the western clubs over the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox; the St. Louis Browns don't seem to be in any shape to take advantage of that edge; the Tigers have more real major leaguers than any of their rivals in Doc Cramer, Dick Wakefield, Pinky Higgins, Rudy York, etc. And their no use trying to laugh off those two 20-game winners, Newhouser and Trout, when the other clubs don't even have one.

Should the plan be accepted, Army would likely base its team at Nanaimo, an army spokesman told the league.

Mrs. Bennett Leads

With a net score of 75 Mrs. D. Bennett led the field in the first round of the Wilkerson Cup competition played at the Gorge Vale Golf Club Sunday. Second round will be played next Sunday.

Other scores follow:

Mr. A. Swan, 76; Mrs. J. Cunningham, 78; Mrs. R. Norworthy, 78; Miss V. JACKIN

Annual Red Cross tournament at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday saw G. P. Melrose take the honors with a net score of 64.

With scores of 66 J. Macdonald, H. Haynes, W. J. Peers, B. P. Schwengeler, H. G. Heisterman and Walter Newcombe shared second place.

Lady Lev Provides Drama for Race Fans

By PETE SALLAWAY

Four photo finishes, good prices, perfect weather and some real racing drama all went towards making a perfect opening program for close to 5,000 horse racing fans at the Willows track Saturday afternoon.

On the other side of the ledger officials of the Colwood Park Association left the plant well pleased as the betting through the pari-mutuels showed a nice increase over the corresponding day last year. Although the crowd was big and the wagering brisk, the boys at the wickets handled the situation well and mighty few, if any, bettors were shut off.

Bobby Taves, runner-up for riding honors at Winnipeg this season, was the only boy to get down with more than one winner. In three events of the seven-race card the winners paid off at double figures with second or third choices coping the remaining three.

Punters were treated to an unexpected thrill in the third race. As Starter Clay Puett lined the ponies up in the gate for the start Lady Lev broke through, unseated her rider, Bobby Taves, and headed down the track. Continuing past the stands Earl Havens' mare rounded the clubhouse turn and scooted out the chute at the head of the back stretch for the barns. As the thousands of fans roared with laughter the mare proceeded into the stables in the cattle barn. Pony boy Jackie Russell rounded up the mare and galloped her back to the starting gate.

When the field broke from the gate Lady Lev moved into the lead and dropped back as the field rounded the first turn. She remained in good position on the back stretch, was third entering the stretch and came on in the final drive to overtake Ascot Jane and Sweet Olive for the major portion of the purse.

BIG DAILY DOUBLE

Fans were in a happy mood as two long shots, Miss Olivia at $16.50 and Bob-Will at $25.20, took the first two heats and combined for a handsome daily double of $204.10. The double on opening day last year was worth only $35.45.

Feature race of the day, an allowance event over six furlongs and 30 yards, and a substitute for the Saanich Handicap which had to be canceled, went to the locally-owned Some Turley, to the delight of the big crowd. Mrs. E. Stewart's aged mare, trained by Don Carley, won in the few strides from the heavily-favored Sahara Chief. A picture was necessary to split the two. Galamar took third. Sahara Chief broke from the gate on top but couldn't hold the charging Some Turley with Johnny Hruschak in the pilot house.

One-two in the seventh returned $26.15 when the second-choice Trip Over and Green Turban finished in that order with third going to Seabred. The favored Beauty Warm ran last, never being a contender.

Bobby Taves, runner-up for riding honors at Winnipeg this season, was the only boy to get down with more than one winner. In three events of the seven-race card the winners paid off at double figures with second or third choices coping the remaining three.

Punters will run every day at the Willows rain or shine until Sept. 25 and there is every indication the meeting will be one of the most successful in recent years.

Mann Cup Finals

TORONTO (CP) — Dates for the Mann Cup senior lacrosse finals were announced today by Geno Dofy, past president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association and secretary of the Ontario Lacrosse Association. The series, which is to be played in Maple Leaf Gardens here, is slated for Oct. 7, 9, 10 and 14.

The eastern Canada semifinals will be played in Cornwall a week previous to the finals.

And the good looks of any coat depend not only on the quality of its fabric and the fine workmanship put into its making, but also on a certain indefinable artistry that distinguishes a Wilson Overcoat from just a coat. In spite of wartime shortages we have a surprisingly varied selection of Overcoats in British Tweeds and West of England cloths in the smartest shades and color combinations. Lieut. David A. Harper, 27, Seaforth Highlanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Harper, 3318 Doncaster Drive, has been wounded for the second time while fighting on the Italian front. His parents have been notified that he was wounded Sept. 1, but no details were given. Harper was first wounded Dec. 31, 1943, when he stopped machine gun bullets in his thigh and left forearm while serving in the Moro-River area with the British 8th Army. After recovering in a North Africa base hospital, he returned to his unit in the field. Harper took his O.T.C. at U.B.C., from where he graduated in 1942 with his B.Comm. degree. He went overseas with the Seaforths in May, 1943.

He had been in France but three weeks. Born in Winnipeg 27 years ago, Howard received his education at Courtenay and at George Jay School here. Before joining the army he was employed by the Comox Logging Co. and by H. R. Brown, local contractor.

Mrs. Bernice White, 313 Stewart Avenue, View Royal, has been notified that her husband, Pte. John W. White, Loyal Edmonton Regiment, died Sept. 2 from wounds received in action in France. Pos. H. I. Hobson, Victoria, aboard H.M.C.S. Prince Henry, saw the operations so successfully carried out in the invasion of southern France. The Prince Henry, and her sister ship Prince David, both landing craft assault mother ships, were the only Canadian vessels in the operations.

CPO. Edward M. Temple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Temple, 121 South Turner Street, member of the crew of H.M.C.S. Prince Henry, took part in the landing operations during the invasion of southern France last month. Temple left Victoria aboard the Empress of Japan and remained with that ship 23 months. He returned to Canada for a year and a half and left again for overseas last Jan. 6, his birthday.

PINT-SIZED WONDER—Cpl. Earl McAllister of Hamilton, Ont., five-feet-two, and 120 pounds, is shown near Abbeville, France. McAllister won fame for himself when he rounded up 160 Germans single-handed at St. Lambert-sur-Dives a couple of weeks ago.

Ferrets Guaranteed As Killers of Rats

J. B. Munro, deputy minister of agriculture, has the very thing to clean up Victoria's growing rat population.

He has 16 ferrets in cages in his backyard at 1826 Belmont Avenue and the other day he offered them to a Victoria alderman to help kill the rats which have caused complaints from Fort Street people and an offer of $100 from Stanley Haynes to the city to start a thorough rat-killing campaign.

Mr. Munro guarantees that no rats will live long where there are ferrets. They are death on rats. There is one drawback—they are death on chickens, too, and they don't like kittens or small dogs and could cause a lot of trouble with them.

Anyone who wants a ferret to clean out rats is quite welcome to one, or two, says Mr. Munro. He suggests a ferret in a rat-infested store or warehouse would soon have the place clear of rats and mice.

Ferrets are ferocious and don't like to be teased. Mr. Munro, however, treats them as old friends. They climb about his neck and he strokes them and talks to them, while Mrs. Munro shudders from the porch, for she doesn't like ferrets, especially when they get loose into neighbors' gardens.

The deputy minister imported the father and two mothers about a year ago from Winnipeg, for he is convinced that every farm should have its ferrets to keep down rats, gophers and wild rabbits. But farmers haven't taken to the idea, for a ferret is merely another animal requiring care, as far as they are concerned. As far as Mr. Munro knows, he has the only ferrets on Vancouver Island.

They are playful little animals, with white fur and pink eyes and like each other's company. They would die of loneliness if left by themselves. They eat oatmeal porridge twice a day and every few days Mr. Munro bathes them. They have a musky smell, which rats apparently don't like, for rats stay away from them.

J. B. Munro and ferret—rats wouldn't last long.

Beacon Hill Park still has plenty of rats, which come out of the lake's banks and play around among the ducks, but ferrets out there, while they would kill the rats, might also kill the ducks, so that would present difficulties. At three months, ferrets are ready to catch rats, no matter how big.

So far, few people have accepted Mr. Munro's offer of a ferret to clean out rats. They think the cure is worse than the disease. But Mr. Munro says ferrets, once you get used to them, are lots of fun.

taken by Canadians, to Argentan, which the United States had won eventually. About three miles short of Argentan we cut across by a side road east toward Trun, which had been one of the back roads the Germans had used in their attempt to sneak out of the gap.

INDESCRIBABLE SLAUGHTER

Reaching Trun, we drove southwest toward St. Lambert-sur-Dives and Cambols, the axis along which the Canadians had driven to close the gap and hold approaching St. Lambert, we began to come on the real slaughter, and from there to Chambois and then north on the roads and in the fields for miles, it was indescribable. Literally hundreds and hundreds of every kind of German vehicle, from Panther tanks to farm carts and tiny trailers and bicycles, smeared the roadsides and showed along hedge-rows and in fields and orchards in a gargantuan mess.

How they were spotted and destroyed with such accuracy by the airmen and our gunners in this thick bogage country bowered with leafage, passed my comprehension. But spot them they did, and smash them they did, mercilessly.

St. Lambert and Chambois, two villages cluttered with German wreckage and with dead horses and dead Germans along fences, in gutters and hedges, even on the doorsteps of stores and homes, were roaring crossroads where it seemed the Allied armies met, British, Canadian and Poles in tanks and carriers, U.S. troops in jeeps, all in a coming and going of traffic to hurry the war's end.

ROADS IMPASSABLE

We drove up the road from Chambois northeast toward Vimoutiers, meaning to make a circular swing around across the back of our rapidly-moving front Seineward. But we did not get to Vimoutiers, could not get to Vimoutiers.

First of all, the German wreckage so thickly cluttered the back roads, dirt roads we would call them in Canada, that in places not even the bulldozers could clear it. As a result there were diversions for our armor through fields and woods.

I was grimly savagely happy at having seen that smashing of the Germans, that terrible reckoning by our men and our powerful machines with the Nazis in their own coin a hundred fold.

I hate war and I think killing is madness; but seeing those Germans dead lay a thousand miles instead of under their eyes and noses.

A SILENT SERMON

I saw many cases of peasant women rummaging through a litter of German garments, squatting down right by German dead and retrieving what trousers, shirts and linens they might find serviceable. The French are realistic, logical and thrifty, and no doubt they got many a useful thing. They were not hunting souvenirs as our troops, British and Canadian, were. Many of them were culling over the debris south were indulging in regular rubber-necking expeditions throughout the area. It was all certainly a sight to be seen, however awful a sight, that was a sermon on the littleness of man and the monstrousness of war.

It is hard to tell you and difficult to describe what I saw for miles and hours today when with Lieut. Les Callan, the Star's cartoonist, as companion and with Lieut. Dick Haviland as conducting officer and jeep-driver, I got lost in a jungle of roads between dead Germans and our own tanks.

I asked Callan, a very gentle, very kindly man, what he thought of it all. "Put me down as saying I did not see enough dead Germans to satisfy me," he said. "But I like horses and I was downright sorry to see so many dead horses. You can see that many of them have died literally in the traces, doing their best to get these Jerrys out. That's what hurts me — these dead horses."

FOE USED FARM CARTS

He was right. We saw many cases of peasant men, animals and machines been packed into such space. Some roads are impassable with the mass of smashed German machines and materials, and detours have to be made through fields.

Never, surely, has so much havoc to men, animals and machines been packed into such space. Some roads are impassable with the mass of smashed German machines and materials, and detours have to be made through fields.

In other places, in order to let through the onrush of our mighty military machine which is pounding and hounding Hitler to his early doom, bulldozers have simply pushed the smashed, burned and rusting junk of tanks, guns, half-tracks, troop carriers and staff cars off the roadside. Hundreds of such vehicles lie to one side, overturned in ditches and gullies.

If any one wondered about the power and accuracy of the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. of the medium bombers and fighter bombers, or about the deadly contribution to victory of the rocket-bearing Typhoons, he need wonder no more after seeing this wholesale precise havoc in the twisting lanes, in the leafy orchards and along the hedge rows, where the fleeing Germans sought to conceal themselves.

PAID OFF MANY DEBTS

Here is the evidence of how our air forces and our artillery flailed relentlessly at the Germans trying to get out of the net, scouring them with rockets, cannon fire and shells in this gauntlet of unparalleled destruction. A good many of the debts the Nazis owe us were paid off in this Normandy pocket and in the Falaise-Argentan gap which the Canadians, with the Poles, closed by winning

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any form of treatment or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For those get a package of Hem-Bold from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, or any druggist, and use as directed. Hem-Bold is a time-saver tablet which will quickly relieve the itching and soreness. It is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy has been at such a small cost.

The estimate for this year is 169,734.

When you try Hem-Bold and are satisfied with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

Hot Weather Puts Cluster Lights Out

Hot weather, causing condensation in the marshes, had disrupted Victoria's underground circuits for cluster lights to an extent where approximately half the circuits are temporarily out of commission, Walter McMicking, city electrician, reported today.

He hoped to have some of the main lines back in action by tonight.

Trouble started last Thursday, he said, as condensation sent moisture into spread and perished cables, grounding them. Shorts followed, fuses were blown and lights went out. The cables, down 33 years, are mainly affected on the even number lines, two, four and six giving the most trouble. Some of the odd numbers are also partially affected and it has been impossible to switch over to light certain areas.

As a result of the difficulties Johnson between Government and the bridge, has been without light as has a section of Quadra Street. Some lights will be back on in those areas tonight, Mr. McMicking said.

"It's the worst bump we've had," he commented. "But the cables are getting pretty old now."

Rain and cold weather will relieve the difficulty.

Garson, Pidgeon Featured at York

Being wedded to beautiful Greer Garson, cinematically, that is, has Walter Pidgeon's enthusiastic approval. It is a satisfactory state of affairs for Miss Garson, too. They get along famously, and have ever since they were first married in "Blossoms in the Dust." After that came "Mrs. Miniver," and now "Madame Curie," which opens at the York Theatre today. "There are many reasons why we enjoy working together," Pidgeon said. "For one thing, we never get on each other's nerves." Greer is always lively, a good companion and has a sense of humor. Her feelings do not hurt easily, and we have a lot of fun ribbing each other like a woman who can make a joke, and give as good as she takes. Greer can, and the laughs we get between scenes is the best kind of relaxation from the tension of playing dramatic scenes before the camera. I admire her as an actress, and I respect her intelligence."

Crosby As Priest Plays at Capitol

Bing Crosby, making a radical departure from his customary type of role to play the young priest in Paramount's production, "Going My Way," at least is in good company at the Capitol Theatre, where the picture is now playing.

A similar role made a star of Spencer Tracy and another added greatly to Pat O'Brien's stature. And many another actor can point with pride to a priestly characterization which proved a turning point in his career.

And Crosby has no reason to feel like a lone stranger in "Going My Way," because Barry Fitzgerald, Frank McHugh, Frank for the first time, Barry Fitzgerald, and Ben Blue singing and dancing to the old favorite "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

'In Our Time' Opens At Atlas Theatre

The new Pine-Thomas release for Paramount, "Gambler's Choice," which opens tomorrow at the Dominion Theatre, has a unique cast. In addition to co-stars, Chester Morris, Nancy Kelly and Russell Hayden, the latter out of boos and chaps for his first dramatic lead, there is Jack Mulhall, remembered as matinee idol of some years back. So much in demand today, Jack runs back and forth between the film sound stages and the theatre footlights. He is a member of the cast of the Hollywood hit, Ken Murray's "Blackouts" or 1944."

Sheldon Leonard, who has established himself as an outstanding screen heavy in a series of remarkable performances, in spite of the fact that he made his mark on Broadway as a comedian, has many calls to play unsavory characters—killers, gunmen, hoodlums and racketeers.

From automobiles to an 11-mile range anti-aircraft cannon was the conversion successfully made by one American company; these giant weapons with many high-precision parts are designed to shoot enemy planes out of the stratosphere.

A plastic rivet, with peculiar advantages in certain jobs, is ballooned out after placement with compressed air to make it hold; the rivet is centre-bored through the head to near its end for the air-application, and is installed hot.

The underlying theme of "Voice in the Wind" is much like that of the play "Romeo and Juliet," for it deals with a pair of star-crossed lovers.

ZACATON root, Pileumia erinifolia, is raised and used in Guatemala for making brooms and brushes, sold largely in Cuba and Argentina.

The demand for new radios, refrigerators, air conditioners, automobiles and other consumers' durable goods, will be 40 per cent greater in the first full-production year after the war than in America's best prewar year, it is predicted.

Zacatón root, Pileumia erinifolia,

GOING MY WAY: Paramount's moving story of a young singing priest (Bing Crosby), promises to be one of the season's finest films. With Bing, above, is Barry Fitzgerald, the cantankerous but lovable Father Fitzgerald. Also in the cast are Rita Stevens, star of the Metropolitan Opera; Frank McHugh, as Father "Tim" O'Dowd; Gene Lockhart, Jean Heather, James Brown and many other fine performers. The picture opens today at the Capitol Theatre.

Where To Go Tonight

ATLAS—Ida Lupino and Paul Henreid in "In Our Time." CADET—"The Common Touch." CAPITOL—Bing Crosby in "Going My Way." DOMINION—"Make Your Own Bed," starring Jack Carson. YORK—Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon in "Madame Curie."

whose love for each other is stronger than death itself. And it turns out every important member of the cast at some time in his or her career played a role in the great Shakespearean tragedy.

Francis Lederer, for instance, made his first outstanding stage appearance for Max Reinhardt in Berlin in the role of "Romeo." Sigrid Gurie, who co-stars with Lederer, appeared on the stage in Brussels for the first time in the role of Juliet.

A similar role made a star of Spencer Tracy and another added greatly to Pat O'Brien's stature. And many another actor can point with pride to a priestly characterization which proved a turning point in his career.

And Crosby has no reason to feel like a lone stranger in "Going My Way," because Barry Fitzgerald, Frank McHugh, Frank for the first time, Barry Fitzgerald, and Ben Blue singing and dancing to the old favorite "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

'For Me and My Gal' Rio Presentation

Judy Garland found there was more to this dancing business than meets the eye. During the rehearsals for the dance numbers in "For Me and My Gal," now being shown at the Rio Theatre, Judy blistered her feet, strained her back-and-wore-out three pairs of tap-shoes. Virginia Weidler saw her first vaudeville act when she visited the set and watched Judy Garland, George Murphy and Ben Blue singing and dancing to the old favorite "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

French Penetrate Dijon Outskirts; Yanks in Rougemont

By SID FEDER

ROME (AP)—French troops

penetrated the outskirts of Dijon,

an important communications

centre 150 miles southeast of

Paris, while other French units of the 7th Army met bitter opposition in the battle of the Belfort Gap, Allied headquarters said to-day.

U.S. units advanced to Rougemont, 25 miles southwest of the historic gateway into southwest Germany, but French troops, inching their way through the Jura Mountains along the Swiss frontier, met desperate German rearguard resistance.

An Allied headquarters announcement Sunday night said

the French were fighting near

the village of Blamont, 16 miles

south of Belfort and 36 airline

miles south of the German frontier.

The French advance to the outskirts of Dijon, a town of 96,000,

virtually sewed up the escape

corridor for the German 19th

Army in that sector. Seizure of

Dijon would not only seal off at least two main highways to the

Germans, but push the enemy to within 55 miles of where the U.S.

forces in northern France were

last reported.

Fanning out west of the Sâone,

French troops also reached the

road junction of Saulieu, 40 miles

west of Dijon, and about 25 miles north of Autun, which they had taken 48 hours ago.

Clearing out all the hill country

to the Saône, the French troops

also captured Arney de Due, 30

miles southwest of Dijon.

Meanwhile the enemy in the

whose love for each other is stronger than death itself. And it turns out every important member of the cast at some time in his or her career played a role in the great Shakespearean tragedy.

Francis Lederer, for instance, made his first outstanding stage appearance for Max Reinhardt in Berlin in the role of "Romeo." Sigrid Gurie, who co-stars with Lederer, appeared on the stage in Brussels for the first time in the role of Juliet.

A similar role made a star of Spencer Tracy and another added greatly to Pat O'Brien's stature. And many another actor can point with pride to a priestly characterization which proved a turning point in his career.

And Crosby has no reason to feel like a lone stranger in "Going My Way," because Barry Fitzgerald, Frank McHugh, Frank for the first time, Barry Fitzgerald, and Ben Blue singing and dancing to the old favorite "Oh, You Beautiful Doll."

French Penetrate Dijon Outskirts; Yanks in Rougemont

By SID FEDER

ROME (AP)—French troops

penetrated the outskirts of Dijon,

an important communications

centre 150 miles southeast of

Paris, while other French units

of the 7th Army met bitter opposition in the battle of the Belfort Gap, Allied headquarters said to-day.

U.S. units advanced to Rougemont, 25 miles southwest of the historic gateway into southwest Germany, but French troops, inching their way through the Jura Mountains along the Swiss frontier, met desperate German rearguard resistance.

An Allied headquarters announcement Sunday night said

the French were fighting near

the village of Blamont, 16 miles

south of Belfort and 36 airline

miles south of the German frontier.

The French advance to the outskirts of Dijon, a town of 96,000,

virtually sewed up the escape

corridor for the German 19th

Army in that sector. Seizure of

Dijon would not only seal off at least two main highways to the

Germans, but push the enemy to within 55 miles of where the U.S.

forces in northern France were

last reported.

Fanning out west of the Sâone,

French troops also reached the

road junction of Saulieu, 40 miles

west of Dijon, and about 25 miles

north of Autun, which they had

taken 48 hours ago.

Clearing out all the hill country

to the Saône, the French troops

also captured Arney de Due, 30

Nazis' Last 'Impregnable' Line

Black area on map above shows the Siegfried Line or Westwall—the last of Germany's various "impregnable" fortifications. A "defence in depth," its underground fortifications, tank traps, machine gun cross-fire set-ups and other features are reported to extend from 40 to 60 miles back from the frontier.

Andre Malraux Leads 'Lawrence of Arabia' Career In France

PARIS (AP)—The French novelist Andre Malraux, who was reportedly killed while fighting the Germans, now is reported reliably to be safe after a dramatic career during the occupation as a "Lawrence of Arabia" among the southern French Maquis.

Malraux served as a liaison man between the French Forces of the Interior and Britain in sabotage work and in funneling supplies to patriot warriors.

He was wounded and captured by the Gestapo, freed by a patriot raid, and now is leading a force of 1,000 patriot warriors in the Limousin area, his friends said.

VACATIONS FOR VETERANS

EVERY NOW and again you hear a wall from someone because their pet play centre is temporarily "out of bounds" for holiday purposes.

But they forget that mobilization on a stupendous scale has been so essential to fight a stupendous war that even the holiday resorts have been pressed into service.

Here in Victoria, for instance, the palatial clubhouse of the Colwood Golf and Country Club is housing convalescing airmen. Harrison Hot Springs and Jasper Park's picturesquely lodge are among well-known mainland resorts now devoted to the reconditioning of sick or injured servicemen.

And it isn't only in Canada that vacation resorts have been taken out of public circulation, so to speak.

CALIFORNIA'S HEADACHE

THOSE FORTUNATE Victorians who used to be able to go for periodical stays at California's swaggy spas and hotels may find some consolation in the fact that these, too, have been taken over by the forces.

According to a report in a recent issue of Business Week, four of San Francisco's major hotels will shortly be used in the rehabilitation plans for the U.S. army ground forces.

The St. Francis was one of those mentioned as a possible centre for tired G.I.'s. These hotels would not be used as hospitals but as stopping-off places in which U.S. servicemen recuperating from war damage might spend three or four weeks resting from battle fatigue or mild shock, before going on elsewhere.

But, according to the same source, the owners of the hotels in question are very much worried at the proposal.

'HERE'S YOUR HAT'

NOT BECAUSE they begrudge the G.I.'s a well-earned rest in luxurious surroundings, but because of the present pressure on hotel accommodation owing to overcrowded conditions.

At the present time, anyone lucky enough to get accommodation in a Pacific coast hotel, south of the line, is allowed to stay only five days.

After that, you are politely but firmly told: "Here's your hat! What's your hurry?"

Three of Santa Barbara's largest hotels, the Biltmore, Miramar and Vista Mar Monte, were suddenly requisitioned a few weeks ago by the U.S. War Department.

Guests in the hotel were given just five days to pack their bags and find other accommodation, before the hotels were occupied as services' redistribution centres.

Interior of B.C.
Short of Teachers

Teacher shortage is most serious in northern central B.C., Hon. H. G. T. Terry, Minister of Education, said today on his return from the north.

The situation around Prince George, he said, is "quite bad." 18 schools being closed in the area west of that city. However, two weeks ago it seemed 42 schools would be unable to open there because of lack of teachers. There is hope, the minister said, that some of the 18 will be able to open with the next few weeks.

"It is not a question of salaries—it is because the schools there are in lonely little places," Mr. Perry said. "Most teachers, like everyone else, prefer to be close to centres of population."

In the north Mr. Perry attended the official opening of the Prince Rupert Hazelton Highway, at which he represented the B.C. government and spoke at a luncheon at Terrace.

The paper on delinquency reviewed the legislation passed in various provinces, contrasting some with others, and urged uniformity in law covering that subject. Emphasis was laid on the desirability of humanizing treatment of young offenders and in segregating them to an even greater degree than now followed from older offenders, Mr. Perry said.

The agenda, he added, was crowded, with panel discussions on many important points proceeding at the same time.
